DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 02, 2006 has been entered.

Claims 1-26, 32 and 33 were cancelled. Currently, claims 27-31 and 34-36 are pending in this application.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 27-31 and 34-36 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: none of the prior art of record fairly suggests or shows all of the limitations as claimed. Specifically,

Re claim 27, none of the prior art of record discloses, in combination with other limitations as claimed, a liquid crystal display device comprising a first orientation control element extending in a nonparallel direction relative to an extending direction of an edge of said pixel electrode and a second orientation control extending in a parallel direction relative to an extending direction of said edge are provided on at least one of said first and second substrates, wherein said second orientation control element is constituted by an assembly of distinct plural orientation control elements having a same directivity in a direction of the substrate's plane surface, and wherein said assembly is entirely formed between adjacent repetitions of said first orientation control element.

The most relevant reference, USPN 6,710,837 B1 to Song et al. (Song), fails to disclose or suggest a second orientation control element being constituted by an assembly of distinct plural orientation control elements having a same directivity in a direction of the substrate's plane surface, wherein said assembly is entirely formed between adjacent repetitions of the first orientation control element.

As shown in Figs. 17 and 18, Song discloses a first orientation control element (horizontal portion of 252 of a crossed-shaped aperture 250 or horizontal portion of protrusion pattern 170) extending in a nonparallel direction (direction 333) relative to an extending direction of an edge of said pixel electrode 200 (direction 444) and a second orientation control element (vertical portion of a protrusion pattern 170) extending in a parallel direction relative to an extending direction of said edge (direction 444) are provided on at least one of said first and second substrates (substrate 20 in Fig. 19E), wherein said second orientation control element is constituted by an assembly of plural orientation control elements (protrusions of the protrusion pattern 170 connected together along the edge of the pixel electrode 200 in the direction 444) having a same directivity (direction 444) in a direction of the substrate 20's plane surface. However, said assembly is not entirely formed between adjacent repetitions of the first orientation control element.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
